We combined our prototypes A & B by using the note taking page from prototype A and the dashboard/home page from prototype B. We came up with this design by using the feedback from our user testing from the last assignment.

Redundant buttons	Combined the study buttons into one button in the sidebar
Users were a bit confused on how the program worked	Created a help button to the notes page with instructions
Users actually hitting the submit button on tests	Created a popup when you hit submit that will check if you really want to submit

Storyboard:

In class Kailey and Jessie presented Kailey's version of the storyboard (as you can see above). It's a video demonstrating the use of our app by a student. Didn't receive any feedback or questions.
